

AB - And then I would just come back. Couldn't do it anymore.

ACB - Do you think you just needed an adjustment period?

AB - Yeah.

ACB - I think so. I mean, you hadn't had any experience taking care of yourself all by yourself.

AB - No. Yeah, then with the baby.

ACB - I mean, to go instantly from being dependent on your parents a hundred percent (100%) to having to take care of yourself and the baby, that's a big jump.

AB - Yeah. Yeah. It's hard.

ACB - Um...

AB - But after a while, you know, I got used to it. I wanted to. That motherly instinct, you know, you just want to do everything on your own.

ACB - Yup. Um, now, was everything okay until your parents moved to Buckfield?

AB - Up, what do you mean? Well, we moved to Auburn first.

ACB - Okay. To Auburn first. Did you go with them to Auburn?

AB - Yup.

ACB - Okay.

AB - I went with them. I got a job at the country club.

ACB - Yup.

AB - And everything was going fine. And then, JEFF and JEN set me up with CHAD on like a blind date...

ACB - Yup.

AB - ...kind of thing.

ACB - Yup.

AB - And, um, I just thought he was like the greatest thing in the whole. You know what I
