Re: Chad Evans

My name is Elizabeth Cox and I have known Chad Evans for about 9 years. I came to know Chad through his mother Pam, she and I are best friends, the reason I say this is to let you know that I have had the chance to get to know the whole family like they were my own and they have all treated me as if I were. Pam and I have gone over to Chads home in Rochester numerous times and stayed there for a week at a time sometimes longer. I have a daughter, she is 12 years old now, again I say this because she went with us when we went to Chads home. I shouldn't need to stress this but I will, I would trust Chad Evans with my life and that of my daughter. Chad has always been very much a role model I would want my daughter to have and look up to. I have witnessed the way Chad is with his own child and that of his wife (Brent) which he treated as if he were his own. Chad loves children, you can see it in his eyes when he is around them, he plays with them and pays attention to them and teaches them. Children love Chad because of those very same reasons and more.

When we would go over to Pams house to swim my daughter would ask if Chad was going to be there, was she afraid he was? No, just the opposite, she was hoping because again Chad would play with her in the pool, all the other adults would sit around talking about boring things with each other, not Chad, he would be making sure the kids were having as much fun as they could. So my daughter was not afraid Chad would be there, in a sense she was afraid she was going to be bored out of her mind because he wasn't. I have seen Chad help so many people out in so many different ways, if I were to need anything, anything at all I know Chad would help me in any way possible, even now. I just have one last thing to say, I'm pregnant with my son right now and if he turns out to be even half the man Chad is I will be one of the proudest and luckiest people in the world.

Thank-you for your time in reading this.
