

Dear Judge Madson:

My daughter and I are writing this short letter to you on behalf of Chad Evans.

A boy we have known for thirty years. We are shocked & sad over this whole thing, and we just can't believe anything bad of him. This is totally out of character of Chad Evans.

For we have always seen him as a very clean and neat, down to earth type.

Always there to help you in some way if need be.

He is a very polite, courteous, well-bred, and gentle boy. He was never rude to no older folks.

My husband loved Chad just like the son he never had.

Chad was always a leader, a worker, trying to make some thing of himself. To make his family proud of him.

Chad was always watching over his brother Jason he was always getting in to trouble. Chad even called the police on his own brother's wild teenage pool party because it was getting out of control and to much for Chad to handle on his own. He even took the keys away from some of the kids because ~~they~~ they where drinking to much.

I will never believe Chad had any thing to do with the little girls death unless he tells me out of his own mouth.

There is some thing very wrong about this whole story.

Chad has a little boy by first wife
and he didn't beat or miss treat him that I know of.

The mother of the little girl Amanda
Bostner

Some thing very wrong with her, this girl
is no mother.

She says things about Chad, Point's the finger
at him, gets him in this mess, and runs
after him, puts him back in jail.

Because the boy is so mixed up over her
and in love, he is not using common sence.

Chad loves very deeply and he is very devoted to that person. He can't see through her kind.

Because she really set him up good by pointing the finger at Chad by saying all that stuff about what he did to her daughter. she made him the bad
guy in the eyes of the jury right from the start. When all the time it could be the baby sitter, or even the
so called mother.

The Medical Examiner did not have enough time he said, to make sure.

But did say it looked like the death blow, where after she was left off at the baby sitters, taking it out of Chad's time frame. They should have gave the gentleman time, and not rushed a verdict.

I just cant believe this whole thing
I will always love Chad Evans.

Please find out the truth. For his whole future is at stake to be in prison for the rest of his life for something someone else has done.

I am all for justice, but I do not believe he is guilty.
